To help in the search for Christina...

Volunteers now call hot lines

242-6179 (Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.)

664-2128 or 664-2129 (24 hours daily)

1-800-648-7502 (24 hours daily)

POM ANNEX - Since Christina Marie Williams disappeared June 12, hundreds of people from both on and off post continue to offer their assistance in the search for her. The outpouring of care from throughout the Monterey Peninsula and beyond is evident by the daily callers offering their help as well as the talented initiatives ongoing by current volunteers.

There was no doubt that a volunteer headquarters had to be established, according to Army Community Service representatives who dedicated the initial volunteer hot line, 242-6179 (weekday line), on July 6. As soon as the phone was manned at 8 a.m. Tuesday, July 7, the calls to help with the search for Christina and her abductors began pouring in.

"Within the first 24 hours we had over 100 calls and by the end of the second day, that rose to over 300 calls," said Trina Brewer, volunteer hot line coordinator. On July 9, two more hotlines were added (664-2128 and 664-2129, 24-hour lines), she said. "With all three lines ringing, the calls increased immediately to 500 just on July 9 alone. (Note: July 14, an additional 800 number was added (1-800-648-7502).

"Our purpose is to have a [centralized] place for people to call," explained Brewer. "In addition to manning the volunteer hotline, volunteers are needed to do call backs, pass out updated fliers, review the www.pollyklaas.org web site on their home computer each day, then download the latest information and send on to others via e-mail as well as printing out handouts.

"We are asking volunteers to attend community events and festivals throughout the Peninsula and pass out fliers," Brewer said. "Ideally, we want everyone to put a flier on their car window to show their support and keep the pressure on until we get Christina home safely."

"Our mission is to let the abductors know we are out in force, they will not ever be free of us; there are more of us than them, and we will pursue this until we get Christina home to her family and her dog, 'Greg.'"

Post Veterinarian Encourages Avid Microchip

A simple injection means a lifetime of protection for your animal.

Statistics show one out of three family pets will be lost. Unfortunately, only 10 percent of lost pets are identified. With the Microchip program, a scanner is used to retrieve your pet's I.D. number immediately. The I.D. number is entered into a computer where an extensive database matches the I.D. number with pertinent information about you, the owner. What this means is a quicker reunion with your lost pet and reduced chances he will be taken to the pound or animal shelter. Veterinarians agree that the Avid Microchip is the identification method of choice. A simple and safe injection gives your pet permanent identification.

For details, ask your veterinarian (242-7718),

Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires

Humans are the only creatures that can start a forest fire. So don't forget Smokey's rules. Drown your campfire with water, then add more water while you stir the area with a shovel or stick. Don't leave until the ground feels cold.

The other creatures will thank you.

Runners to represent DLI in 14th Annual Army Ten-Miler

More than 9,000 Army runners completed the 1997 race and more than 11,000 registered.

The 14th Annual Army Ten-Miler will be run at 8 a.m., Sunday, Oct. 11, at the Pentagon where the start and finish lines will be established. Military and civilian runners around the world are preparing for the race held the day before the opening of the Association of the United States Army's Annual Meeting Oct. 12-14 at the Washington Marriott Wardman Park Hotel (formerly the Sheraton Washington Hotel) and the Omni Shoreham Hotel. The Army Ten-Miler, the largest 10-mile run in the United States, is hosted by the U.S. Army Military District of Washington and AUSA. More than 9,000 runners completed the 1997 race, and more than 11,000 registered.

New race course

Race officials said the new course is wider and better designed to meet the growing number of runners. The flat, fast USA Track and Field certified course leaves the Pentagon, crosses the Memorial Bridge, passes the Lincoln, Korean War, Roosevelt, and Jefferson memorials, the Washington Monument, the Smithsonian Castle and the U.S. Capitol before crossing the 14th Street Bridge on the way to the finish line.

Race registration

There is a $20 registration fee if postmarked or submitted by Friday, Sept. 18 for all runners. (Late registration is $25. See late registration section below.) Individuals may register online by going to the Army Ten-Miler Home Page at www.armytenmiler.com, or by mailing a check or money order to: Army Ten-Miler, 103 Third Ave, Bldg. 48, Fort McNair, DC 20319-5058. Teams may not register online. Team registration must be mailed to the above address and must be postmarked by Friday, Sept. 18. There is no additional charge for teams. Teams will consist of no more than eight and no less than four runners. A team's time will be based on the combined average of the team's best four running times. The team divisions are: open men, open women, mixed open, masters men, masters women, mixed masters, active duty military open men, active duty military open women, active duty military open mixed, active duty military masters men, active duty military masters women, National Guard, Reserve, government agency, corporate (to include AUSA sustaining and corporate members), military academy and ROTC.

Commander's Cup

For the 12th consecutive year, the revolving Commander's Cup trophy will be awarded to the top military team (men and women) in the active Army, National Guard, reserve, ROTC and military academy divisions. In 1997, the Fort Carson Men's Team, Fort Carson, Colo., with a time of 3:27:44, and the Fort Bragg Women's Team #2, Fort Bragg, N.C., with a time of 4:23:43, won the Commander's Cup.

Awards

All runners will receive a newly-designed, six-color, long-sleeved Ten-Miler T-shirt. At the race's conclusion, there will be a ceremony where awards will be presented to the winners to include: the overall winners (male and female), the masters winners (male and female), the wheelchair winners (male and female), the top finishers (male and female) in each award category, the top teams in each division, plus additional special awards.

Hotels

The Doubletree Hotel, 300 Army Navy Drive, Arlington, Va., will again serve as the race headquarters hotel. Special room rates are offered at the Doubletree (703-416-4100), the Arlington Days Inn across from Fort Myer (703-525-0300), the Arlington Quality Inn near Fort Myer (703-524-4000) and the Best Western Arlington on Glebe Road, off Interstate 395 (703-979-4400/800-426-6886). IG Inquiry into DLI Audio Tape Quality

DO YOU HAVE BAD DLI AUDIO TRAINING TAPES?

Do You Know Someone Who Does?

Free Candy! For the next 60 days, we will provide you a replacement tape and trade Hershey's® candy for each bad quality DLI audio tape you give us.

Many people over the years have complained about tape related problems, and we want to find out EXACTLY what is wrong and see if it can be fixed. We are trying to identify bad audio tapes and the reason they are bad.

We want to know the problem(s), but to do that, we need actual tapes in our hands, not just stories and reports. If there are bad master tapes, malfunctioning recording equipment, reused tapes, or poor quality blank tapes - we want to know!

We will try to minimize your inconvenience and provide a small reward for your help.

First, if you have a bad tape either tag it with a label or tape, or put it in an envelope that identifies who you are and how to get your replacement and chocolate to you.

Then you may do one of three things:

- Drop it with your unit (Collectors names below) and they will pass it to us, or
- Drop it at the IG office. (Building 341 between the flag pole and CPO office) or
- If you have five or more bad tapes you can call us direct (242-5205) and we will arrange to get them from you.

INSTRUCTIONS TO COLLECTORS:

When personnel drop tapes with you, please make sure you have identified who they are and how to get replacements and chocolate back to them.

Call the IG office (242-5205) and tell Ms. Suter when you have either five tapes or it has been five days. She will come pick them up from you. (We will also pick up fewer than five if it is important to get the replacement quickly)

We will also provide incentive chocolate to the most active tape collector each week!

TIPS FOR SPENDING LESS

If you think there's no way you can cut back on your spending, think again! Saving money by spending less isn't brain surgery, but it does take discipline. The main ideas are: shop wherever possible on sale, deal or discount; buy value, not price; take care of the things you own; be especially careful on large purchases; never buy on impulse (always plan your purchases); compare prices whenever possible and pinch pennies -- they soon become dollars.

Saving Category:

"Furniture and Appliances"

- Always buy energy-efficient appliances.
- Give the charity outlets and secondhand stores a try. You might luck out.
- Carpets and rugs should always be purchased on sale or at discount outlets.
- Buy big-ticket items as a group with your neighbors - things like a carpet cleaner, an industrial-size coffeemaker, a floor polisher, etc.
- Compare appliance service terms as well as price. A slightly more expensive item may have a better warranty (be sure to check this out). Tread carefully in purchasing service contracts, though. Many times, they aren't worth it.
- Evaluate major and minor appliances by reading reports from unbiased testing services.
- Regular appliance maintenance does wonders for longevity. All some need is a drop of oil in the right place once a year. Do it yourself.
- Postpone purchase of major furniture and appliances until they go on sale. Watch the papers and the season (January-February for bedding, April-May for carpets, furniture at the start of summer. All other things being equal, unpainted furniture at the start of summer).
- Read the classifieds. Don't be too proud to find a large-item bargain for sale by a desperate mover. Again, check the item number with the opinions of unbiased testing services, if possible.
- Save your sales slip and always know what the warranty terms are. You never know when you'll need to return faulty merchandise.
- Use less expensive fabric for slip covers or drapes when you know you'll probably be moving or redecorating soon.
- Don't buy more than you need in an appliance. Most of us don't use all the "bells and whistles" on our appliances. For example, how many of us know how to use the advanced programming functions on our VCR?

Just call them at 646-4020 to schedule a free assessment test after you have first turned in a MPC admission form. There is no obligation or cost involved, and the test results are usually available the next day. Your test scores will indicate the appropriate MPC math or English course in which to enroll. Nine test dates at MPC are still up-coming this August. After August, there will be no more placement tests offered by MPC until January 1999.

MPC/DLI Fall Registration

Tuition is $12 per credit for military and family members (during their first 12 months in California). Deadlines for Monterey Peninsula College early registration are fast approaching. The possibility to mail-in registration ends July 31, and the opportunity to still register in person on a walk-in basis expires Aug. 7. Thereafter, in-person registration will only be accepted according to the following strict schedule:

Language Proficiency Translates into College Credit

Demonstrating Language proficiency through the DLPT can yield college credit. Military can take the DLPT in a language other than the one studied at DLI. Up to 24 semester hours can be earned for level-two proficiency in category one languages. As much as 36 semester hours can be earned for level-two proficiency in category four languages. The DLPT is an excellent way to document proficiency in an additional language. Contact the Education Center or your training NCO for more information.

Montgomery GI Bill increased 20 percent

On June 9, the President signed into law the Transportation Equity Act, Public Law 105-178. Among other things, this law authorizes a 20 percent increase to the Montgomery GI Bill, effective Oct. 1. The MGIB, currently valued at $15,834 will increase to $19,008 in October, a $3,174 increase. Service members may begin using this benefit after completing three years in service. For more information about the MGIB, visit the POM Education Center, Building 273.

(Part 1 appears in the July 17 issue)

What's all the ~~talk~~ facts about ANTHRAX

Army ANTHRAX VACCINE IMMUNIZATION Program Plan

APPENDIX 7 (Questions and Answers) to ANNEX E (Communication Plan)

These questions and answers were developed by the Department of Army Public Affairs (SAPA-PCD), ODCSOPS Chemical/NBC Defense (DAMO-FDB), The Army Surgeon General (DASG-RDZ), and Army Medical Command (MCPA). They serve as starting points for information that may be requested by the news media or within DOD. Points of Contact: MEDCOM Public Affairs: 210-221-6213 or DSN 471-6213, Army Public Affairs: 703-697-7550 or DSN 227-7550.

Q30. Why do we think the anthrax vaccine will protect people if anthrax inhalation occurs? Have any studies been done involving people, the vaccine, and anthrax inhalations?

A30. The original study of anthrax vaccine in textile workers proved that the vaccine protected against the cutaneous (skin) infection form of anthrax. Although no inhalation anthrax occurred among the immunized workers compared to five cases among workers who had not been vaccinated, the total number of cases was judged too few to show statistically definitive proof of protection. However, results from several animal studies provide convincing evidence that the vaccine protects against anthrax as much as 400 times the lethal dose of anthrax by inhalation. This information coupled with the encouraging results of the effectiveness and immune response in humans assures us that the vaccine will greatly increase the chances of soldiers surviving exposure to inhalation anthrax. When full immunization is combined with proper use of protective masks and post-exposure treatment with antibiotics, the chances of survival are increased.

Q31. What is the efficacy of the anthrax vaccine after one inoculation? After two inoculations? After three?

A31. Studies have shown that after two doses of the vaccine, 91 percent of recipients have antibodies against anthrax, and after three doses more than 95 percent of recipients have antibodies against anthrax. Although these results show that there is a good immune response to the vaccine, an antibody response does not necessarily equate to protection. Efficacy usually equates to protection. We know that the six-dose series protected workers against anthrax when tested in textile mills in the 1950s. And, although three doses of the vaccine might protect the majority of persons, the more prudent course is to continue with the full series and booster doses for military persons.

Q32. Can the vaccine be taken by military members who are pregnant or breast feeding?

A32. Every woman will be questioned about the possibility of pregnancy, and pregnant women will not receive the anthrax vaccine unless anthrax exposure occurs or is imminent. Personnel who are pregnant should not take this vaccine. This vaccine, like all other vaccines in the U.S., is classified as "pregnancy category C," which means that animal reproduction studies have not been conducted with the anthrax vaccine. Hence, prudent medical practice dictates that all vaccinations, including anthrax, should be routinely deferred during pregnancy unless clearly needed. The vaccination program will be deferred until the pregnancy is completed. In general, there is no compelling reason to interrupt or delay breast feeding for the immunization of the mother with the anthrax vaccine.

Q33. Who should not take the vaccine?

A33. Those with a true hypersensitivity reaction to a previous dose of the vaccine, HIV positive soldiers, pregnant women, and people 17 years old and younger and over 65. Anyone falling outside these age limits should not be vaccinated. Other temporary reasons for deferment of the vaccine include an acute respiratory disease or active infection, and a temporary course of immune suppressing drugs such as steroids. Vaccinations should be resumed when these issues are resolved.

Q34. Is there a requirement for long-term follow-up after this vaccine is administered?

A34. No. This is an FDA-licensed product and does not require follow-up. Required medical records will be maintained.

Q35. How is the Army going to track the immunization process since it takes 18 months to complete?

A35. The Department of Defense will have a unified system to track immunizations in place by 2000. In the interim, anthrax immunizations will be tracked on an electronic registry linked to the Army's personnel system. The Army will use the Medical Protection System (MEDPROS), a module of the Medical Occupational Database System located in the Pentagon mainframe computer. MEDPROS provides the Army with worldwide access of the status of the Anthrax immunization program.

Q36. What is the cost of the vaccination program?

A36. The current cost of a single dose is approximately $4.44. The full six dose regimen costs about $26.64. When all associated costs (transportation, storage, administration, etc.) are included, the cost to immunize an estimated 2.4 million personnel (over a seven to eight-year period) is approximately $130 million.

Qs and As - THREAT/RISK FACTORS

Q37. What units will be vaccinated and when is the immunization process slated to begin?

A37. TBD. Answer will be provided as soon as names of units are declassified and DOD announces the date immunizations will begin.

Q38. Has anthrax been weaponized? By whom?

A38. We do not discuss specific threat information. However, the threat exists and the department wants to do everything it can to protect our forces.

Q39. Is the anthrax vaccine an experimental drug?

A39. No. The anthrax vaccine is fully licensed by the FDA and has been in use since 1970. Veterinarians, leather workers, researchers, and others are routinely vaccinated against anthrax.

Q40. Isn't this vaccine considered a possible cause of Gulf War illnesses?

A41. No. Several scientific bodies have addressed this issue and to date, there is no scientific information to that effect. The Presidential Advisory Committee on Gulf War Veterans' Illnesses (1996) concluded that it is unlikely that health effects reported by Gulf War veterans today are the result of exposure to the anthrax vaccine used alone or in combination with the botulinum toxoid vaccine. The Presidential Advisory Committee also considered the health effects of receiving multiple vaccines. The human immune system has evolved the capability to deal with thousands of foreign substances, to sort them out, and to regulate the immune response. Humans live among a vast population of hostile microorganisms, and vaccinations -- even multiple, contemporaneous vaccinations - are a small part of total immune stimulation. Individual vaccines can cause adverse effects, but several studies of the effects of giving multiple vaccinations at one time have found no adverse effects associated with the practice. Research on this issue continues, but based on available evidence, the Committee believes it is unlikely that multiple vaccines are responsible for illnesses reported today by Gulf War veterans."

Q42. Are vaccines being developed for other biological agents?

A42. As potential biological warfare threats are identified, we are working with the FDA to determine appropriate protection mechanisms. Vaccines are being developed, whenever appropriate, for all validated biological threat agents.

Q43. At what point during the immunization process will soldiers be allowed to deploy to a high-risk location?

A43. DOD guidance states that for force protection purposes, a service member will be considered deployable if he/she is enrolled in the six shot protocol, regardless of whether or not he/she has completed the protocol.

Qs and As - LEGAL / MORAL ISSUES

Q44. Will service members have a choice in receiving the vaccine?

A44. No. This series of inoculations will be treated the same as other inoculations required for service members to be deployed. All service members will be required to take the vaccination, unless medically deferred, in accordance with the DOD directive for the purpose of protecting our forces.

Q45. If military members refuse to be immunized, will they be discharged or court martialed?

A45. Each case will have to be determined on its own merits, but in general, soldiers refusing to comply are subject to disciplinary action.

Q46. What mechanism is in place to protect family members who may be residing with a military sponsor in a high-risk area?

A46. OSD will provide guidance for the immunization of other than U.S. forces (OTUSF).

Q47. Will DOD civilians be vaccinated? Contractors?

A47. We are planning to immunize those Commander-designated mission-essential Department of Defense civilian employees and contractors whose jobs entail deployment with troops on operations to high threat areas. DOD will continue to evaluate plans for protection of all DOD personnel.

Qs and As - BIOLOGICAL AGENTS

Q48. What are biological agents and how are they different from chemical agents?

A48. Biological agents are disease producing, micro-organisms or toxins (substances capable of destroying human life) used to destroy livestock, crops or human life. Chemical warfare is conducted using chemicals other than explosives especially irritants, asphyxiants, contaminants, poisons and incendiaries (capable of causing fire).

Q49. How are biological agents deployed?

A49. Biological agents can be deployed in numerous ways from simple spray devices to ballistic missiles. The agents are often difficult to detect, symptoms are delayed, and without preventive medical efforts such as vaccinations the results can be devastating and wide spread.

Q50. Are biological agents detected differently from chemical agents?

A50. It's important to clearly distinguish the difference between biological and chemical agents. The science and technology required to detect biological versus chemical agents is vastly different.

Qs and As - BIOLOGICAL DEFENSE PROGRAM HISTORY

Q51. What was the U.S. biological offensive program?

A51. The Biological Research and Development Program was a classified program conducted from 1942-1969. It was responsible for large scale research and development programs in biological warfare agents (BW), BW intelligence, and BW defense. It was ended by Executive Order on November 25, 1969. Since then, the Department of Defense has engaged only in research and development of defense materials to protect U.S. Forces from the threat of biological warfare.

Q52. Why was the Biological Research and Development Program developed?

A52. In 1941, a National Academy of Sciences committee surveyed the world's BW situation. This committee concluded that BW weapons were feasible and urged President Roosevelt to take steps to reduce U.S. vulnerability to BW attack.

Q52. Where was the Biological Research and Development Program located?

A52. Camp Detrick, Maryland (now Fort Detrick) was the home of the Biological Research and Development Program from 1943 to 1969. Since 1969, the Medical Biological Defense Program has operated at Fort Detrick.

Q53. Why was the program continued after WWII?

A53. The program continued in response to concerns about the continued vulnerability of the United States to covert biological weapons attack.

Q54. What was U.S. policy regarding the use of biological weapons during the Cold War?

A54. The U.S. policy regarding biological warfare between 1941 and 1969 was to first deter its use against the U.S. and its forces, and secondly to retaliate if deterrence failed.

Q55. Does the U.S. still have an offensive biological program?

A55. No. In an Executive Order issued on November 25, 1969, President Nixon discontinued all U.S. activities that supported the offensive focus of the Biological Research and Development Program. The Army continued a defensive biological research program to include vaccine research. U.S. BW weapon stocks were destroyed by 1973.

Q56. Did the U.S. ever produce infectious biological agents for retaliatory use?

A56. During World War II, a plant was constructed in Indiana to provide retaliatory BW capability using aerial bombs; however, it ceased operation before infectious BW agent production began. From the end of WWII until 1950, no production was carried out for purpose of operational readiness, and no facilities were available. The first limited BW retaliatory capability was achieved in 1951 when an anti-crop bomb was developed. By 1954, a BW antipersonnel agent was being produced. Production of BW anti-crop and antipersonnel agents continued throughout the 1960s. In August 1969, President Nixon directed an immediate end to all BW production. Defense Department antipersonnel BW stocks and munitions were destroyed between May 1971 and May 1972. Anti-crop agents were destroyed between April 1971 and February 1973.

Q57. Does the U.S. have a biological research program today?

A57. Yes. Since the inception of the Biological Research and Development Program in 1942, the U.S. has conducted research and development into defensive measures against biological warfare. That defensive program, known today as the Biological Defense Research Program, continues in accordance with the 1969 Presidential policy statement. The Biological Defense Research Program seeks to develop effective warning and detection devices, protective clothing and equipment, and continues to assess the vulnerability of the U.S. and its forces to enemy BW attack.

Q58. Does the U.S. still have an offensive BW capability, or conduct offensive biological tests?

A58. No. United States BW weapon stocks were destroyed by 1973. Today, the Army only has a Biological Defense Research Program. No open air testing for offensive biological warfare has been conducted by this nation since 1969.

Q59. Does the U.S. still have live biological agents?

A59. Yes, U.S. military laboratories maintain limited archives of the microorganisms and toxins associated with BW efforts in order to develop vaccines, drugs and other therapeutics needed to protect our personnel. It does not maintain agents for any offensive biological weapons purposes.

Q60. When was the U.S. biological warfare program first made public?

A60. The Congress and American public were initially made aware of tests conducted as part of the Biological Research and Development Program in 1977 when the report, "U.S. Army Activity in the U.S. Biological Warfare Programs," was released.
